CUSTER CONNECTIONS

How to Create Community at your Business

If you have repeat customers, you already have the foundation of something powerful: a community. You just need to ensure they understand that.

Not a punch-card club. Not just “regulars.” A real group of people who feel connected to you, your team, and each other. Community is what keeps people choosing you even when a cheaper, closer, or flashier option pops up. It is also a lot more fun than chasing new customers all the time.

Here is how to turn those repeat visits into a community that loves coming back.

Shift from Transactions to Relationships

Most businesses stop at “Thank you, have a great day.”

Community starts when you get curious.

Ask yourself:

- Do I know anything about the people who come back again and again?
- Would I recognize them outside the business?
- Do they feel like guests, or like familiar faces?

You do not have to become everyone’s best friend. But a small shift in how you see them changes everything. When you view repeat customers as “our people,” you naturally look for ways to take care of them, remember them, and connect them.

That is the beginning of community.

Learn Names, Then Learn Stories

One of the simplest, highest-ROI moves you and your staff can make is learning names and using them.

“Hey, good to see you again” is nice.

“Hey, Maria, how did your event go last weekend?” is loyalty.

You can make a quick note after a conversation in your POS system or a notebook behind the counter. Capture just a few details: kids’ names, pets, big projects, favorite order. Train your team to glance at those notes before serving someone. You are not being intrusive. You are being attentive. In a world where most people feel invisible, that level of care is rare. Over time, you will know who just started a business, who is new in town, who is training for a race, who is caring for a parent. That is how your space stops feeling generic and starts feeling like “their place.”

Create Simple Rituals People Can Join

Community loves a shared ritual.

This does not have to be complicated or expensive. Think about small traditions, such as a “regulars’ hour” once a week where you test new items, a wall of fame for long-time customers or milestone purchases, or a daily question on a chalkboard that everyone can answer.

Rituals give people a reason to come back and something to talk about.

When someone says, “On Fridays they always...” that is community behavior. You have given them a story to tell.

Start a Club That Gives People a Reason to Return

One of the strongest ways to turn repeat customers into a true community is to create a recurring club that meets at your business.

The club should fit your brand and your customers’ interests. For example:

- A bookstore or café could host a monthly book club or writers group.
- A yarn, craft, or gift shop might host a weekly knitting circle or “maker morning.”
- A fitness studio could run a “goals group” that meets once a month for coffee and conversation.
- A wine bar could host a “Wednesday Tasting Club” where members try a new flight together.

Keep it simple:

1. Choose a consistent day and time.
2. Give the club a name so it feels special.
3. Offer a small perk for participants, such as a discount, early access to products, or a reserved table.

Over time, the club becomes a steady heartbeat in your business. People come not only for what you sell, but for the friends they know they will see there.

Turn Repeat Customers Into Insiders

People do not just want to buy from you. They want to feel in on it.

Treat your regulars as insiders, not just transactions. You might give them early access to new products or menus, “first to know” messages about special items or events, or a quick behind-the-scenes look at what you are working on next.

Ask for their input:

“We are thinking about adding X. What do you think?”

“We have two logo options for this new product. Which one would you pick?”

When customers feel like insiders, three things happen: they show up more often, they bring people with them, and they defend you when someone criticizes you online.

Make Your Space a Place to Connect

Community is not just between you and your customers. It is also between your customers and each other.

Look for small ways to help that along. Arrange seating so people can sit, not just stand in a line staring at their phones.

Host tiny, low-pressure events: coffee tastings, lunchtime learning sessions, local maker pop ups, or “meet the owner” Q&As.

When it feels natural, introduce people:

“You two are both new business owners on this street, you should meet.”

“You both come in after the school run. Have you met?”

You are not planning a conference. You are creating moments where conversation is possible. Those moments are what people remember.

Share Their Stories, Not Just Your Promotions

If every post or email is “Here is what we are selling,” your marketing will always feel like noise.

Community-building content looks different. You highlight customer stories and shared moments. You might feature short spotlights of regulars, with a photo and a quote about why they come in. You can show customers enjoying your space (with permission, of course), or share stories of how your customers support one another, like referrals or collaborations that started at your business.

This makes featured customers feel seen and signals to everyone else, “People like you belong here.”

Suddenly your brand is about more than what is on the shelves or the menu. It’s about who gathers around them.

Build Light Systems So It Survives Busy Season

Community sounds warm and fuzzy, but it works best with a little structure behind it.

To keep it going even when you get swamped, create a simple “regulars” tag in your POS or email system. Add a short team habit, such as “two genuine conversations per shift” or “ask one follow-up question of a regular each day.” Once a month, review who you are seeing a lot and who you have not seen in a while.

You do not need a complicated points program. You need a repeatable way to notice, remember, and appreciate the people who show up.

The Quiet Advantage of Being “Their Place”

When customers feel like they are part of a community at your business, a few things shift quietly in your favor. They are more patient when something goes wrong. They choose you even when a big chain runs a sale. They tell people about you without being asked.

In a world where so many experiences feel rushed and anonymous, being the business that remembers their name, knows their story, invites them into clubs and rituals, and connects them to others is not just nice. It is a serious competitive advantage.

You are not just building foot traffic and revenue. You are building a small, loyal neighborhood around your business, one repeat customer at a time, and that feels really good for everyone involved.

#Membership Monday

This week our Membership Spotlight shines on one of Custer's local hotspots... The Custer Wolf - Food & Drink!

Here's what the wonderful staff had to say about the business:

"Providing a fun, casual atmosphere with a focus on fresh-made food and an exciting selection of beer and wine, The Custer Wolf is a favorite for locals and tourists looking for something a little different. Come in for a pint, delicious homemade food, and local conversation. Gluten-free buns and menu items are available! We're proud to be open year-round and locally owned and operated. Most people know us for craft beer, but we have a great wine selection, too! We have a steak special year-round. It may not be on the menu, but it's always available!"

AREA EVENTS

On Sunday evening, Dec. 21st at 6 p.m.
the Mountainview Baptist Church will perform the Christmas cantata, “Then Jesus Came.”

All of the songs and performances will be conducted by Custer residents. The church’s adult and youth choirs will provide special music.

In the play, the “Church at Forest Grove”
calls a new pastor, and the town gossips, “Tilly” and “Lizzy” help the plot to thicken by discussing details of the problems in their little country church.

There’s lots of good humor and a positive message in this delightful script. It’s wholesome entertainment that the whole family will enjoy.

The basics of mutual funds

When you invest in a mutual fund, your money is pooled with that of other investors. A professional money manager or money management team then invests the money into a variety of securities to help the fund meet its stated objectives (e.g., growth, income, etc.). A single mutual fund can be made up of stocks, bonds or a combination of both.

Mutual fund 101

Diversification: Most funds diversify their holdings by buying a wide variety of investments that correspond with their category. A typical stock fund, for example, might own stock in 100 or more companies providing a range of products and services. The advantage of diversification is that losses on some stocks in the fund can potentially be offset by gains on others. There are many types of mutual funds with different objectives and levels of growth potential.

- Professional management: Each fund is run by one or more professional managers who are responsible for its day-to-day operations and performance. A typical fund engages a large group of research analysts, traders and financial analysts as well as a variety of other investment professionals.

Liquidity: Mutual fund shares are liquid investments that can generally be bought or sold on any typical business day. However, because of the fees involved with mutual fund transactions, we do not recommend using mutual funds as a short-term trading vehicle.

- Flexibility: Mutual funds can be appropriate investments for large and smaller sums. Mutual fund investors may qualify for a reduced sales charge (known as a breakpoint) once they reach a certain level of investment in a mutual fund or fund family. This level may be achieved through a single purchase or a series of purchases.
- Choice: An investor can find a mutual fund to fit most investment goals. Many fund families now offer international, equity, balanced, bond, sector, asset allocation, growth, fixed-income and many other funds.

Deciding what's right for you

I can review with you the features and risks of a mutual fund to help determine whether it may be suitable for you.

Mutual fund investing involves risk. Your principal and investment return in a mutual fund will fluctuate in value and your investment when redeemed, may be worth more or less than the original investment.

How we work together: Helping you reach your financial goals

My team and I will take the time to truly get to know you, since how we turn your vision into a reality is very unique to you. I'll work with you to create a personalized financial strategy that includes advice, tools and resources to help you achieve your financial goals.

I'll do this in three important steps:

1. Understanding what's important to you

Your strategy should be personalized. So, before I make a recommendation, we'll work closely together to understand what is most important to you, including your goals, comfort with risk and how you'd prefer to work together.

2. Using an established process to build your personalized financial strategies

I use an established 5-step Process, incorporating what's important to you, to develop a personalized strategy using our advice, guidance and advanced tools. Our 5-step Process helps me fully understand what is most important to you and then create a personalized and actionable financial strategy.

3. Partnering together over time to help keep you on track

Markets, interest rates and life's priorities may change, but our relationship and my commitment to helping you achieve your goals won't. I'll make sure I'm with you every step of the way by:

- Providing regular reviews and updates
- Identifying timely risks and opportunities
- Helping you keep your emotions in check during market volatility
- Helping you prepare for the unexpected

I believe that when it comes to your financial strategy, you deserve a personal relationship and professional advice. My goal is to help you achieve your goals. That means focusing on the future you see for yourself, building strategies just for you and helping you stay on track by partnering together over the long term.

It takes a team

When we develop your financial strategy, you're backed by all of Edward Jones. Along with my team, you have the expertise of our Investment Policy Committee, our product review team and research analysts behind you all the way.

These teams provide the guidance and resources to help me:

- Develop a financial strategy for your goals
- Build your personalized investment portfolio
- Identify and address potential risks and opportunities

Community Wildfire Protection Plan

Custer County is updating its CWPP in cooperation with representatives from local, state, and federal agencies and other organizations with a stake in wildfire preparedness and mitigation. The project is being facilitated and supported by contract staff from Bintel Inc.

The CWPP is a plan developed by a community in an area at risk from wildfire. The Community Wildfire Protection Planning process is the collaboration between communities and agencies interested in reducing wildfire risk.

We welcome your feedback on how wildfire affects you for the purposes of the CWPP.

Survey Topics:

- county wildfire risks
- landowner mitigation
- evacuation planning

VFW Post 3442 Angel Tree

There are 71 envelopes on the tree. Each envelope has a number and that number is assigned to a resident at the State Veterans Home in Hot Springs. Inside each envelope is a list of what that veteran would like for Christmas. Most of the lists are very short, but nothing says you can't buy more for that person.

When you pick a card, you will be Christmas shopping for that veteran. Please fill out your name and phone number on the sheet provided next to the number that you picked.

There will also be a contact card in the envelope for you to list your name, phone number and mailing address in case that veteran wants to personally thank you.

Please have all gifts back to the VFW by Dec 15th so we can deliver them later that week.

We would prefer that you wrap the gifts or at least put them in a holiday gift bag so that it really feels like Christmas to the heroes at the State Vets home.

Travel South Dakota Proudly Recognizes Official 2025 Great Place and Great Face Designees

PIERRE, S.D. – Travel South Dakota is proud to recognize 38 businesses with a 2025 South Dakota Great Place designation and 65 individuals with a 2025 South Dakota Great Face designation. These tourism-focused businesses and individuals earned the designation for their outstanding hospitality and customer service.

“South Dakota continues to be a place where visitors are met with genuine warmth and hospitality,” said James Hagen, Secretary of the Department of Tourism. “But this doesn’t just happen. We are known for world-class hospitality because of the businesses and people that prioritize it and embody that welcoming spirit on a daily basis. I couldn’t be prouder to recognize each of them for their commitment to excellence.”

The South Dakota Great Place program puts a spotlight on businesses that exemplify great service by going above and beyond for guests and employees. The South Dakota Great Face program honors individuals in the tourism and hospitality industry who excel in customer service by providing top-tier service to guests. The goal of both programs is to strengthen the tourism industry in South Dakota and offer support to tourism industry members.

To view the list of Great Place businesses recognized, please click here. For a list of Great Face individuals, click here.

Online application forms for 2026 South Dakota Great Place and 2026 South Dakota Great Face will open in February 2026. All are encouraged to participate. For more information about the Great Place program, click here. To learn more about the Great Face program, click here.

The department also offers an Online Hospitality Training program. The training is free, and all tourism industry businesses are encouraged to share the training with their staff. For more information about the department’s hospitality programs, please click here.

The South Dakota Department of Tourism is comprised of Travel South Dakota and the South Dakota Arts Council. The department is led by Secretary James D. Hagen.

Happy Anniversary! The Custer County Conservation District Celebrates 85 Years.

85!

As 2025 comes to a close, the Custer County Conservation District is celebrating its 85th anniversary. The District hosted a small celebration during its December board meeting with some of its partners. The group shared cake and conversation. A special thank you to all of our partners! We would not be successful without your cooperation and valuable contributions.

Conservation District History:

The official beginning of the district dates back to 1940 when a Land Use Planning Committee passed a resolution proposing that a soil conservation district be formed within the

Government Shutdown Leaves Public-Lands Partner with More Than $105,000 in Lost Revenue

HOT SPRINGS, SD – Black Hills Parks and Forests Association, a nonprofit that supports National Park Service and U.S. Forest Service sites in South Dakota and Nebraska, reports more than $105,000 in lost revenue following the 43-day federal government shutdown. The financial hit affects the organization's ability to fund educational programs that thousands of visitors rely on each year, including Junior Ranger activities at several national parks and forests.

BHPFA operates 16 stores inside federal land agency facilities across the region, including Wind Cave National Park, Jewel Cave National Monument, Scotts Bluff National Monument, Agate Fossil Beds National Monument, and ranger district offices for the Black Hills and Nebraska National Forests. These locations provide most of the nonprofit's operating income.

"Our partner retail operations make up 89 percent of our operating revenue," said BHPFA Executive Director Patty Ressler. "October is usually a strong sales month for us. Losing this revenue will impact how we support our federal partners, especially the education programs families count on."

Because the shutdown closed federal facilities to visitors, BHPFA's stores were unable to operate during one of the most active visitor periods of the fall season. The organization says the shortfall threatens funding for interpretive materials, youth education, and community outreach programs that help connect people with public lands.

To stabilize its budget, the nonprofit is launching a year-end fundraising effort supported by a $50,000 matching gift. The appeal aims to prevent interruptions to partner support and to maintain staffing levels for the organization's nine full-time employees.

"A gift at this time will assure our federal partners there will be no gaps in funding their education programs," Ressler said. "It also helps us keep our staff employed so we can continue serving the parks and forests our communities care about."

BHPFA has also opened a holiday market at its new headquarters at 833 Mt. Rushmore Road in Custer, offering seasonal hours through Dec. 24.

About Black Hills Parks & Forests Association:

Black Hills Parks & Forests Association (BHPFA) is a nonprofit partner of the U.S. Forest Service and National Park Service. The organization supports wonder and exploration through stewardship of public lands. In 2025, BHPFA has provided over $100,000 to its agency partners for educational programming, interpretive materials, and public outreach across South Dakota and Nebraska.

At 11 a.m. MT today, Monday, Oct. 6, 2025, a road construction project is scheduled to begin on U.S. Highway 16A near Custer. The reconstruction project to replace a box culvert structure and multiple pipe culverts is located 14 miles east of Custer or nine miles west of the S.D. Highway 79 intersection.

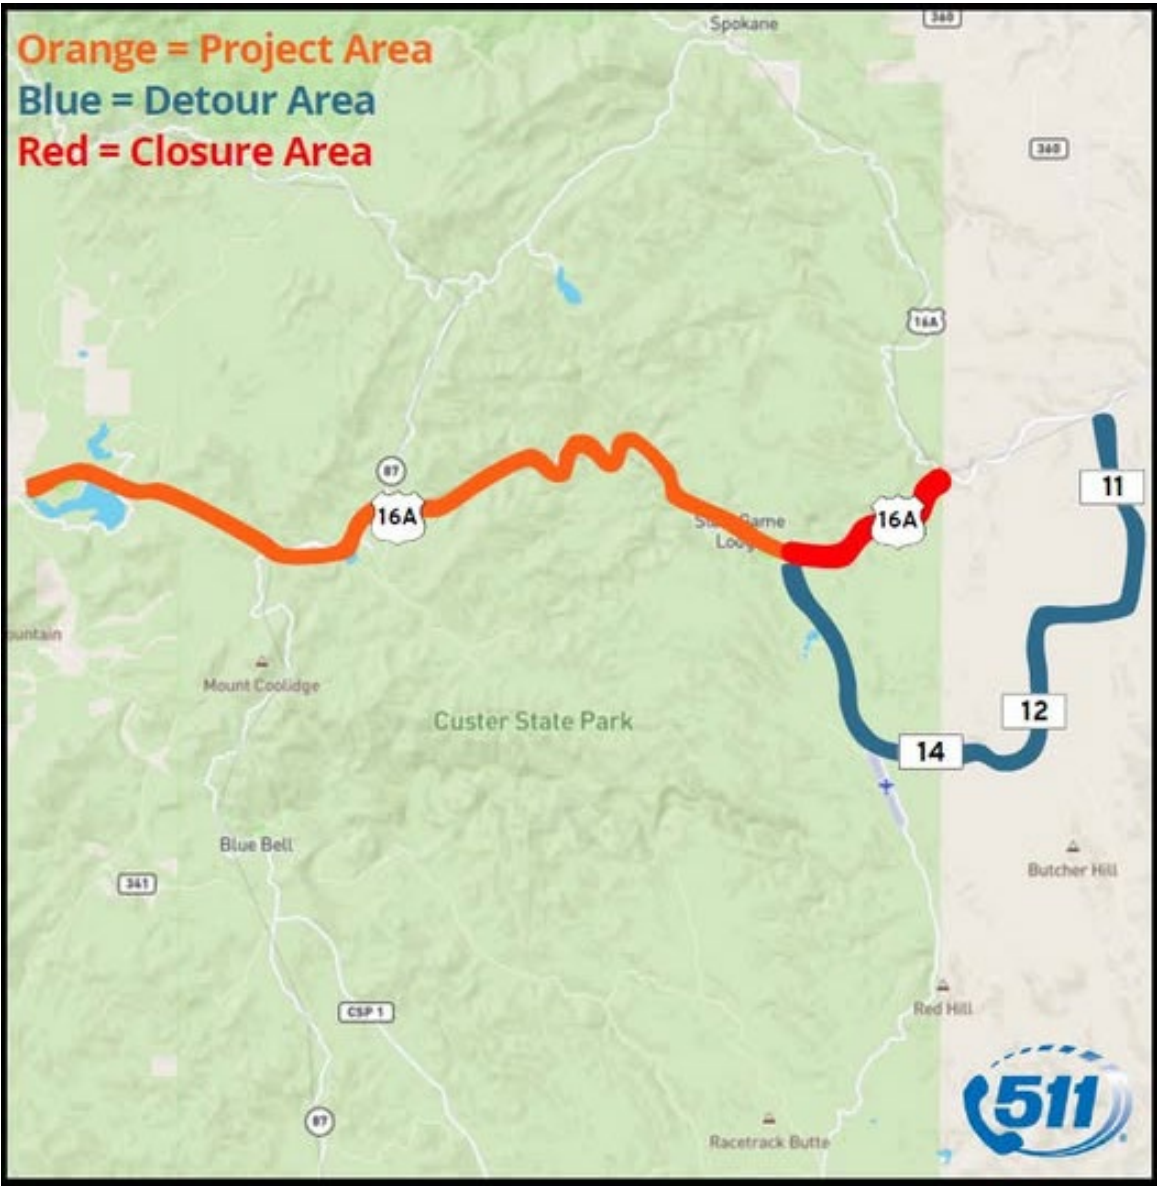

Highway 16A will be closed from the intersections of Highway 16A/Iron Mountain Road to Custer State Park's Wildlife Loop. This closure will be in place until April 2026. Additional work will include replacing multiple pipe culverts, building gabion walls, and mill and overlay asphalt from Custer State Park's east entrance to the west entrance for 13 miles. Custer State Park's Wildlife Loop and Iron Mountain Road will remain open throughout the project.

During the Highway 16A closure, there will be a detour in place. The detour route is from the intersection of S.D. Highway 36 and Custer County's Ritterberger Road, south two miles to Cobb Road intersection, west one mile on Cobb Road, south one and one-half miles on Cobb Road to the intersection of LH Road, west approximately two miles on LH Road to Custer State Park's Wildlife Loop Road, and then north two miles on the Wildlife Loop Road back to Highway 16A. Motorists should be aware that the detour on Ritterberger Road, Cobb Road, and LH Road includes six miles of gravel. The Wildlife Loop Road is two miles of asphalt with a reduced speed limit of 25 mph. S.D. Highway 40 between Hermosa and Keystone also provides a detour option for area motorists.

Find additional project information at <https://dot.sd.gov/16a-culverts>. This website includes project updates, photos, and a downloadable map that demonstrates the project area and detour route.

The overall project completion date is October 2026.

South Dakota DOT Update

Project Update

NOVEMBER 28th

Current Construction:

- Closure E (Pactola Dam to Taylor Ranch Road) is currently in place and ends on Friday, March 6, 2026. Outside of the closure area, construction crews are continuing work on the roadway.
- The driving surface within the construction area is a combination of pavement, blotter (a hard, packed surface that resembles asphalt), and gravel. U.S. Highway 385 from Wrinkle Valley Road to 1/2-mile from South Sanders Ranch Road and from Sheridan Lake Road to 1/2-mile to the north is gravel.
- In the event of winter weather, the South Dakota Department of Transportation will plow and maintain the construction area as well as Custer Gulch Road.
- The intersection of Custer Gulch Road and Highway 385 has been temporarily moved 300 feet to the north. A temporary diversion is in place while the contractor continues work on a box culvert in this area.
- Within the closure area, the contractor continues to conduct planned rock blasts, excavating and replacing culverts, and grading the roadway.

?? Construction Zone Reminders ??

- Follow posted speed limits in construction zones.
- Be aware of flaggers and other construction workers in the construction area.
- If you are following a pilot car, stay with the line, and do not stop or exit your vehicle in the project area.
- It is illegal to go beyond cones and barriers within construction zones even when the contractor is not working.
