CUSTER CONNECTIONS

Hopefully, your happiest customers are already doing some marketing for you. Maybe they’re mentioning your business to a neighbor or tagging you in a post. Perhaps they’ve told a friend, “You should call them.”

The problem is that most small businesses leave those moments to chance and probably don’t even know about them. That’s why you must make referral marketing part of your marketing goals.

Referrals are powerful because they come with built-in trust. A stranger clicking an ad may be curious. A person recommending your business to a friend is handing you a warm lead. That’s worth building a simple system around.

You don’t need a huge budget or a complicated referral program. You just need a few repeatable habits that make it easy for happy customers to send more people your way.

Ask at the Right Moment

Start by knowing when to ask. Timing matters. The best moment is usually right after a customer has had a positive experience. Maybe they compliment your team. Maybe they leave a great review. Maybe they reorder, renew, rebook, or tell you how much something helped them.

That’s your opening.

Instead of saying, “Let us know if you know anyone,” which puts all the work on them, be specific. Try something like:

“If you know another business owner who could use help with this, I’d be grateful if you’d send them my way.”

Or:

“We love working with customers like you. If you have a friend or colleague who needs this, feel free to share our contact info.”

Specificity helps people think of someone.

Or tell them the why you need referrals. People are more likely to help when you tell them why you need it.

“We’re a small business and we get most of our clients through referrals. We would appreciate you telling your friends and family about us.” This helps them understand how important referrals are to you, but it also tells them that many people have referred you (“We get most of our clients through referrals.”)—that’s social proof.

Make Referrals Easy to Share

Next, make referrals easy to share. Create a short blurb customers can forward by text or email. Keep it conversational.

For example:

“I’ve been working with [Business Name], and they’ve been great. They help with [specific service/product], and I thought of you because [reason]. Here’s their info.”

You can also create a simple referral card, QR code, or web page with your contact information, top services, and a clear explanation of who you help. If someone has to hunt for your phone number, website, or booking link, you’re making them work too hard and few people will do that.

Turn Conversations into Warm Introductions

Another quick win is to ask for introductions in person, especially at events. If a customer, vendor, or fellow business owner says they know someone you should meet, ask whether they’d be comfortable making the connection. A warm introduction is stronger than a cold email. It gives the other person context and makes the conversation feel less transactional.

This is where your chamber can become a practical business development tool. Chamber events aren’t only for showing up, shaking hands, and collecting business cards you’ll later find in your purse, car, or desk drawer like tiny rectangles of guilt. Used well, they can help you build a smarter referral network.

Use the Chamber as a Connection Partner

Before attending an event, think about who you want to meet. Are you hoping to connect with real estate professionals, restaurant owners, nonprofit leaders, healthcare providers, employers, young professionals, or city leaders?

Reach out to the chamber and ask which events tend to attract those groups. Many chambers know the personality and audience of each gathering. A morning coffee may draw a different crowd than a women's leadership event, an industry roundtable, a ribbon cutting, or a large signature event.

Your chamber may also be able to make direct introductions. If you're looking to meet a certain demographic, ask. That's part of the relationship-building advantage of membership. Chamber staff often know who's growing, who's hiring, who's collaborating, who's new to the community, and who might be a strong connection for your business.

Follow Up Before the Lead Goes Cold

Once you make a connection, follow up quickly. Within 24 to 48 hours, send a short note. Mention where you met, reference something specific from the conversation, and suggest a next step if it makes sense. Don't overcomplicate it.

A good follow-up might be:

"It was great meeting you at the chamber event yesterday. I enjoyed hearing about your expansion plans. If you ever need help with [specific need], I'd be happy to be a resource."

Track What's Working

Finally, keep track of referrals. A simple spreadsheet or notes field in your CRM is enough. Track who referred whom, when you followed up, and whether the connection became a customer. This helps you thank people properly and see which relationships are generating real business.

The best referral strategy isn't pushy. It's prepared and focused. You're making it easier for people who already trust you to open the next door.

Take the Next Step

Look at the chamber calendar and see what's coming up next. Then reach out to the chamber before you attend. Let them know who you're hoping to meet.

The right event, the right introduction, and one happy customer can turn into your next three leads.

Rochford Motor Vehicle Prohibition

Rochford, S.D., May 1, 2026 – Beginning May 2, 2026, at 12 a.m. through August 1, 2026, motor vehicle use will be temporarily prohibited on the National Forest System Roads (NFSRs) 125, 190, 190.1A, 191, 192, and 192.1A on the Mystic Ranger District, Black Hills National Forest. This is to protect public health and safety due to the nature of the operations.

There will be heavy machinery operations occurring at these locations. Officials said the safest course of action is to temporarily close these areas due to the heavy equipment being utilized.

Signs and flagging will be posted at each area that is closed during operations and removed when operations cease.

The Rochford Motor Vehicle Prohibition Order No. BKF-189-2026 including the map, can be found on the Black Hills National Forest website. For more information on the Black Hills National Forest, visit <http://www.fs.usda.gov/blackhills>.

About the Forest Service: The USDA Forest Service has for more than 100 years brought people and communities together to answer the call of conservation. Grounded in world-class science and technology– and rooted in communities–the Forest Service connects people to nature and to each other. The Forest Service cares for shared natural resources in ways that promote lasting economic, ecological, and social vitality. The agency manages 193 million acres of public land, provides assistance to state and private landowners, maintains the largest wildland fire and forestry research organizations in the world. The Forest Service also has either a direct or indirect role in stewardship of about 900 million forested acres within the U.S., of which over 130 million acres are urban forests where most Americans live.

Membership Spotlight: Aspen Federal Credit Union

This week, we're highlighting a trusted local financial partner—Aspen Federal Credit Union!

Rooted in community and built on the philosophy of “people helping people,” Aspen Federal Credit Union has been serving Western South Dakota since 1966. As a member-owned financial cooperative, they focus on putting people first—not profits—offering personalized service and financial solutions designed to help members reach their goals.

What they offer:

Personal & business checking and savings accounts

Auto, home, and personal loans

Competitive rates and lower fees compared to traditional banks

Online and mobile banking for easy access anywhere

Local decision-making and community-focused service

With membership available to those who live, work, worship, attend school, or own a business in Custer County and surrounding areas, Aspen FCU continues to be a strong financial resource right here in our region.

More than a credit union, Aspen is a community partner committed to helping families, businesses, and individuals thrive financially.

Why Social Security matters more for women

*Reported by Jared Slagle MBA,
Edward Jones, Member SIPC*

When planning for retirement, Social Security isn't just another item on your financial checklist. For women especially, it's often the cornerstone of a secure retirement. The Social Security Administration reports that nearly 55% of Social Security benefit recipients are women, and for many, it's their primary source of retirement income.

Unlike investments that can lose value when the market drops, Social Security provides guaranteed income that adjusts for inflation and generally lasts as long as you live. That reliability makes it valuable for helping to address two major retirement risks: rising costs and the possibility of outliving your savings.

Life expectancy. On average, women live about five years longer than men (CDC 2023 Life Expectancy measure). That means they rely on Social Security for a longer period, making the decision of when to start benefits especially important.

Taking Social Security early reduces your monthly benefit. You can claim benefits as early as age 62, but every month you wait increases your monthly payments by two-thirds of 1%, or 8% per year, maxing out at age 70. Given women's longer life expectancy, that patience can pay off.

Building your benefit. Your Social Security benefit depends on your 35 highest-earning years. If you have years with zero or very low earnings in that calculation, it can reduce what you receive in retirement. Many women step away from work or reduce their hours to care for family members, and that trend is increasing. A 2025 University of Kansas analysis found that the share of mothers with children under age 5 leaving the workforce fell more in early 2025 than at any point in the past 40 years. The study also noted that rising return-to-office policies may continue to impact working mothers.

While staying in the workforce builds a stronger earnings history and better benefits, that isn't realistic for everyone. Those who can't may need to plan and fund alternative sources for retirement income

Protection for married women. Marriage can provide additional Social Security options. A lower-earning spouse may receive up to 50% of their partner's full retirement-age benefit.

If your spouse dies, you can receive the higher of your own benefit or up to 100% of your deceased spouse's benefit. However, if you remarry before age 60 (age 50 for disabled widows), you lose eligibility for survivor benefits from your late spouse while the new marriage lasts.

Women divorced after at least 10 years of marriage may qualify for benefits based on an ex-spouse's record. If you remarry, you forfeit spousal benefits while the new marriage continues.

A word of wisdom: Report any name changes following marriage or divorce to the Social Security Administration to ensure your earnings and benefits are correctly credited.

Navigate carefully. Given the complexity of Social Security rules, the unique retirement challenges women face and the lasting impact of claiming decisions, working with a qualified financial advisor can be invaluable. An advisor can help you navigate questions about timing, spousal benefits and how Social Security fits into your overall retirement plan.

Registration Now Open for Theatre 605 Jr. Camps 2026 Milestone Year

Celebrating 10 Years of Transformative Theatre Experiences for South Dakota Youth

For Immediate Release

South Dakota — Theatre 605, formerly known as the Black Hills Playhouse, is pleased to announce that registration is now open for 2026 Theatre 605 Jr. Camps, welcoming students in grades 5 through 12 for a week of artistic discovery, skill-building, and lifelong memories. Registration is open through June 1, 2026.

This summer marks a significant milestone: the 10th anniversary of Theatre 605 Jr. Camps. In honor of this occasion, camp is moving to a new and exciting home on the University of South Dakota campus in Vermillion, South Dakota. Campers will rehearse and perform in a professional theatre facility while benefiting from expanded learning opportunities through a partnership with USD Theatre faculty. The move reflects Theatre 605's continued commitment to giving young artists meaningful, immersive experiences in real performing arts environments.

Both the 5th-8th grade and 8th-12th grade camps will run July 19 through 25, 2026. Throughout the week, campers will explore acting, singing, dance, and technical theatre, guided by professional instructors who encourage bold artistic choices and creative confidence. The week culminates in an end-of-camp showcase where campers celebrate and share everything they have worked toward. Beyond the stage, campers will enjoy outside activities including swimming and rock wall climbing, rounding out a full week of fun and friendship.

The enthusiasm for these camps continues to grow across the state. In 2025, Theatre 605 Jr. Camps welcomed more than 100 campers from communities all across South Dakota, a testament to the lasting impact this program has on young performers and theatre enthusiasts alike, statewide.

"This is a place where young people discover their voices, gain confidence, and form lasting friendships through the world of theatre," said Jen Luke, Artistic Director of Jr. Camps. "Year after year, we are inspired by how students grow in creativity and character, reminding us just how transformative the arts can be."

NEWS FROM THE STATE

APRIL 2026
SDVISIT.COM

Happy spring, tourism industry friends!

As we gear up for peak season, we are jumping into spring with newborn cinnamon calves in Custer State Park, intermittent rain showers (we need more!), greening grass & budding trees, high school & college graduations around the corner, and dozens of statewide industry events. I have my seatbelt on and am ready to go! I hope you are too.

Let's get right to it and share some important items we want you to be aware of:

1. National Travel & Tourism Week (NTTW) 2026 kicks off May 3 and runs through May 9. There are many activities planned around the state for NTTW, and the team and I will be heading to all four tourism regions to join many of you in the celebration. Be sure and light up your community, business or attraction in red to celebrate NTTW and remind residents & visitors alike of the importance of the tourism industry to our state and nation. As part of our department's NTTW activities, we'll be joining Governor Larry Rhoden on Monday, May 4, at Mount Rushmore National Memorial for an NTTW kick-off press conference. We'll send more details soon about how you can join us for this special event. If you have any questions about how you can engage in NTTW, please reach out to Bailey Tysdal.
2. Our free Spring Customer Service Seminars coincide with NTTW and will be held in Rapid City, Hill City, Chamberlain, Aberdeen and Sioux Falls, May 5-7. We have another outstanding speaker this year and highly encourage you and your frontline staff to join us for a time of professional development as we gear up for the busy summer visitor season.
3. Cole Irwin and Kyler Flock from our Global Travel & Trade team, along with 19 incredible South Dakota industry partners, are in Medora, ND this week to participate in the International Roundup. Our South Dakota delegation will be meeting with more than 40 international tour operators to inspire future travel to South Dakota. Cole and Kyler will also be hosting several post-IRU Destination Immersion tours across the state.

Please continue reading this newsletter to learn more about upcoming Insider Sessions, Rally Rush 2026 efforts and grant funds, the launch of our new Agritourism Passport, and other industry updates.

On a personal note, I want to thank the many industry friends who reached out to me over the past two weeks as my family and I celebrated the life of my dad. Regardless of their age, it's never easy to lose a parent. I want you to know just how much I appreciate your sympathy, thoughts, prayers, flowers and friendship.

As the team and I fan out across the state in the coming days, we hope our paths cross with yours. If you have any questions about NTTW, the Spring Customer Service Seminars or any other information you read in the Mile Marker, please don't hesitate to reach out to me or any of the team members at Travel South Dakota. Here we go! Let the fun and busyness begin!

All our best,
Jim and Team

Mount Rushmore Fireworks Celebration Draws Strong Public Interest for America's 250th

PIERRE, S.D. – Demand for the upcoming July 3 fireworks celebration at Mount Rushmore National Memorial soared with 102,991 tickets requested for the official Freedom 250 event.

Approximately 4,800 participants will be able to attend the event. The randomly selected ticket lottery was administered by Recreation.gov from April 8 through April 12. Lottery applicants were notified if they were successful on April 14.

“South Dakota is proud to welcome visitors from across the country to celebrate America’s 250th anniversary at Mount Rushmore,” said Governor Larry Rhoden. “We appreciate the partnership with the U.S. Department of the Interior and National Park Service. Their collaboration has been instrumental in planning an event that reflects the values of our nation and the significance of this iconic landmark as a symbol of freedom and unity.”

Event organizers are finalizing an evening program designed to deliver a memorable and meaningful celebration at Mount Rushmore. The night will culminate in a fireworks and light show set to a patriotic soundtrack, honoring the legacy of the monument and the enduring spirit of the United States.

A crew of 30 pyrotechnicians and specially trained highline operators will install fireworks and lighting at designated locations at the Memorial. The State of South Dakota has contracted with Pyro Spectaculars, the same vendor that successfully produced the 2020 Mount Rushmore fireworks display. In addition to pyrotechnics, the 2026 contract includes lighting elements that can be utilized if environmental conditions require an alternative to fireworks.

To enhance the visitor experience and prioritize safety & security, total attendance has been reduced compared to the 2020 event, ensuring all ticketed guests remain within the main campus of Mount Rushmore.

The National Park Service has conducted an environmental assessment for the event, which is available on the NPS website . Protection of the Black Hills and Mount Rushmore National Memorial remains central to planning efforts for the July 3 celebration. Planning partners continue to coordinate closely to ensure a safe and responsible event.

Wind Cave National Park plans temporary road and trail closures during improvement projects

HOT SPRINGS, S.D. – Beaver Creek Road, also known as Forest Service Road 391, will close May 4 while a new cattle guard is installed on the Wind Cave National Park boundary. The closure could last up to 180 days while crews install a wider and stronger cattle guard that meets South Dakota Department of Transportation and Custer County specifications. Additionally, the approach road inside the park will be widened to improve vehicle safety.

In a separate project, the Wind Cave Canyon Trail will close around mid-May while the trail and adjoining road are repaired from frequent washouts. Sixteen low water crossings will be hardened and the road resurfaced. The trail could be closed for several weeks.

Project Update

Friday, May 1, 2026

Current Construction:

- Construction activities, including blasting, are continuing in the U.S. Highway 385 construction area (Pactola Dam to Calumet Road) with the use of flaggers. Motorists should expect delays of up to 15 minutes on workdays (Monday-Friday, some Saturdays). Work generally occurs during daylight hours.
- The driving surface within the construction area is a combination of pavement, blotter (a hard, packed surface that resembles asphalt), and gravel. The following portions of Highway 385 are gravel: the segment from Wrinkle Valley Road to Pactola Dam and the segment from Sheridan Lake Road, extending one-half mile to the north.
- The contractor is placing grass seed in the areas adjacent to the newly constructed roadway.

- Throughout May and June, the contractor will work with Hill City Volunteer Fire Department to conduct scaling activities, which includes using water to remove loose rocks and debris from steep rock faces. This process minimizes future rock fall. Traffic will be managed with a pilot car with anticipated wait times up to 15 minutes.

Upcoming Construction:

- Throughout the summer, construction crews will be working Monday-Friday during daylight hours and on Saturdays as needed.
 - The driving surface within the construction area will be fully blotted (a hard, packed surface that resembles asphalt) by the end of July.
 - Memorial Day: Construction activities will be paused from Saturday, May 23, 2026, through Monday, May 25, 2026.
 - Independence Day: Construction activities will not take place on Saturday, July 4, 2026.
- Sturgis Rally: Construction activities will be paused from Wednesday, Aug. 5, 2026, and will resume on Tuesday, Aug. 18, 2026.

Construction Zone Reminders

- Follow posted speed limits in construction zones.
- Be aware of flaggers and other construction workers in the construction area.
- If you are following a pilot car, stay with the line, and do not stop or exit your vehicle in the project area.
- It is illegal to go beyond cones and barriers within construction zones even when the contractor is not working.
